

Yelena Y. Janjigian, MD, is Professor and Chief Attending of the Gastrointestinal Oncology Service and Carroll and Milton Petrie Chair at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center (MSKCC). She is a physician-scientist leading translational research and clinical innovation to improve outcomes for patients with GI cancers.

Dr. Janjigian earned her BS from UC San Diego and MD from NYU School of Medicine, completing her residency at NYU/Bellevue and fellowship at MSKCC. Her research focuses on the molecular characterization of gastroesophageal cancers, driving therapeutic development and bringing new drugs to the clinic. She has published over 150 papers, including in The New England Journal of Medicine, Journal of Clinical Oncology, Lancet Oncology, Lancet, and Nature, with more than 43,000 citations and an H-index of 74.

She is an elected member of the American Society for Clinical Investigation (ASCI) and a Fellow of the American Society of Clinical Oncology (FASCO). Dr. Janjigian serves on the Board of Giants of Cancer Care and Debbie's Dream Foundation, and holds leadership roles in ASCO and AACR. She is also the Scientific Chair for ESMO 2026. Her research, funded by the NIH, DOD, and SU2C, has shaped new treatment standards in GI oncology. A dedicated mentor, she is committed to driving innovation and training the next generation of oncology leaders.